

I thought we were in a free country. To silence this radio service is to become a third world country.